

A Few Roadsigns on the Path of Pathlessness:

Live in the present. Act in the present. Keep time. Do not waste even a moment. Because time in existence is specified, measured and unextendable. Do whatever your current tasks are, right now – never postpone or procrastinate.

Never censor your thoughts. You are what you are. Accept yourself with all your strengths, weakness or imperfections that you think you have. In absolute sense, there are no imperfections.

Love is the most beautiful of all feelings. Express it unconditionally.

Always operate rooted in the spine. Do not sway with fleeting emotions.

Complete non-violence – in thought, word, action, as well as in all other expressions.

Respect and perform the individual dharma (duty) towards one's family and dharma towards society, with perfect equanimity and zero expectation.

Divinity is Simplicity. Lead a simple life full of love and benevolence. Always feed the hungry with what you have. Always protect the helpless, old and abandoned with what you have. See the spark of God in every being.

Do not worry about what you do not have. Rejoice at what you have. Never compare yourself with another.

Avoid anything that binds you. Irrespective of whether the habit is positive or negative. If you cannot live without something, it is definitely binding for you. This could even be a bed tea or a particular person. It could even be your Guru. It could be an alcohol addiction or even meditation.

Understand all individuals as karmic beings. Everyone lives their karma. Each pattern is unique. Respect it.

Every being on earth has a definite purpose. No creation is by accident. Respect every being, animate and inanimate. Never disturb or destroy. Live and let live.

Emotions, guilt and regrets are ropes that bind us to earth. Have nothing to do with it.

Do everything with full application, sincerity and objective commitment. Never do anything absentmindedly or halfheartedly. Avoid all such actions. You will always be true to yourself and life will be regret free, ego free and fulfilling.

Purity in thought, word and action. This also means perfect selflessness and equanimity in pleasure and pain. Serve selflessly. No discrimination at all, on any basis.

Observe. Be a witness to your own thoughts, words and actions at all times. You will stay liberated from all of it. Objective observation is liberating. Involvement is binding. Remember this always.

There are no do's and don't's. Just live a selfless life, without resisting, judging or criticizing oneself or others.

Do not flaunt anything, be it your wealth, possessions, power, money, achievements, relations, relationships, contacts or even spiritual powers (siddhis). Lead a simple and unassuming life. Remain simple and grounded in outlook and existence. Be benevolent to all and care for all. There is nothing to prove on earth. All that we earn here, needs to be spent (left behind) here too.

There are no binding expectations, including expectation for a specific result for one's word or action.

The Path Of Pathlessness

The mysterious path of spirituality is a path to the intangible. Human beings are used to the tangible. From tangible to intangible and knowing to the unknowable, the path is quite treacherous and often winding. There are many trials and errors possible. Many falls and rises. Tenacity and conviction plus the will to survive against all odds will keep us going. It is a long and winding road by itself.

Then again, those who walked ahead of us always come to help. Most people would rather hold on to their phobias, fears, anxieties and ego, and walk the familiar path of certainty which they are used to, rather than tread the ever uncertain path. They prefer comfort zone spirituality where they can choose what they like and discard the uncomfortable.

Liberation is the path of Pathlessness. Liberation is a state. By liberation, we mean merging back to the original form of light and brightness to the supreme un-manifested. Liberation is a process. Entanglement is easy. It needs no deliberation. It happens by itself. Staying liberated requires extreme awareness, caution and equanimity over pain and pleasure, which includes physical and mental diseases. Anything regular binds us as the mind easily feeds on it. Any ritual is a binding. Any habit is a binding. Any relationship, with the associated expectations, is also a binding. Living it staying detached or unattached is the key. This means perfect witness-hood in all three states – waking, dream and deep sleep state. Detachment is not aversion. It is also not under-performance or escapism. It is a perfect action with 100% application without attachment to the results of the action.

The path never binds anyone to any system and allows free choices to everyone. Personal freedom is respected the most. One is allowed to experience. Nobody judges. Nobody criticises. Individual karma is respected. Everybody is accepted as they are, because their free will is intact. This is the true path. In this path, the Guru, our soul and God are one and the same. Our soul is our primary Guru. The external Guru is only an exponent of the eternal principle called Guru. In the path of liberation, sooner or later, the image, name and form must get nullified and the Guru principle should shine bright. So, whatever image that we hold on to, for our immediate progress, like our class teacher, will vanish and will be replaced by another and another, until the completion of our journey. Path of liberation is always path or annihilation. Everything, including our body, mind and intellect must perish and dissolve, sooner or later.

By living the teachings, and following simple virtues of faith, purity in thought, word and action, and non-violence one can walk the Golden Path. This is not tailored for any specific religion or nationality and is universal in nature. Absolutely anyone who chooses to practise the teachings, irrespective of their age, gender, country, culture, color, creed, community, religions, languages or belief system is welcome. It is their choice. We neither invite anybody nor reject anybody.

The Golden Pure Existence Of Liberation

The Golden Pure Existence exists to spread the message of true love, beyond all boundaries, and preserve the ultimate dharma (righteousness) of existence. Like an open river, it is all encompassing. It's realm is the entire universe. "If even one person seeks liberation, the Pure Existence will provide a guide". This is the promise of the Pure Existence where liberation is the sole aim and freedom is the way of life. Freedom from the mind is real freedom. When a student is eligible, the teacher appears. A teacher cannot deliver anything to a student who is not ripe and ready for knowledge.

The whole universe comes together in the creation of true spiritual Masters. The whole universe is their operating plane. There are no walls or boundaries. The great Masters existing in various planes of the universe operate on one rhythm and purpose. They all are one. There are multiple forms because forms are needed to express. But, beyond all the forms is one single entity. One creator. One creation. One purpose.

From deity Jesus, Zoroaster, Buddha, Devi, Sai Baba, Mohammed, Shiva, Maitreya to Guru Nanak, all the spiritual Masters of the Pure Existence were one consciousness and had the same mission - taking seekers to complete awareness and liberation from the birth and death cycle on Earth. They came forth time and again to show us our real potential, showered pearls of wisdom onto every generation and always told us to look within ourselves. Distinct and inimitable, each Master displayed a different aspect of life and living. While the Masters displayed profound wisdom, their distinct and unique characters and characteristics made people wonder if they were indeed part of the same Pure Existence at all. Some stressed on yoga, some on just observing silence, some on devotion, some on knowledge, some on faith and patience while some on purity, non-violence and faith at all levels.

Their prayer is "May the whole world along with its various beings be saved and elevated, except us". They sacrifice their life for the world, unassumingly, expecting nothing in return; not even gratitude. Some saints of the Pure Existence choose to be among people, in the market place, like you and me, to demonstrate the dharma (righteousness) of existence.

A Master will travel through the seven worlds and seven oceans to find and rescue a pure soul. Eligibility is the only criteria. Eligibility is achieved through Purity. Purity is achieved through Conviction, Commitment and Consistency. Eligibility needs surrender. Surrender should be with awareness. Awareness leads to Freedom. Freedom leads to Liberation.

I am the Pure Existence. I do not have any other existence. Nothing exists except the Pure Existence. If I have a form, it is just a projection of the Pure Existence, or a sign that the Pure Existence exists. All powers and all manifestations rest with the Pure Existence and not me. The Pure Existence is always the doer, not the form the Pure Existence uses to express itself. The Pure Existence is the witness. No Masters of the Pure Existence have ever been doers at any point in time. The form can do nothing on its own. It's the Pure Existence working through various forms to add to multiple realities of existence for the purpose of showing the light of liberation to the world.

I surrender at the feet of this grand Pure Existence and all the great Masters, great Guides, selfless entities, who walked ahead of us, lead us and are still leading us, with deep gratitude and surrender. The Pure Existence has no beginning nor end. It flows eternally. There is no room for ownership or ego. All are part of the grand design. All are integral. All are significant. All are insignificant too. All exist and do not exist. The grand Pure Existence flows eternally. This is where we belong; this is our real family. There are no boundaries. Pure Existence has no barriers of gender, caste, color, creed, country, culture, customs and so on. One Father and various aspects and expressions of that one Father. Ignorance alienates us, while understanding and awareness gather us. Man minus ego is GOD. I bow down to all the children of this rich Pure Existence of supreme un-conditionality. I bow down to this rich Pure Existence built and cemented with FAITH and SUPREME LOVE.
